THE REBEL RAM RAID DOWN JAMES RIVER.

der Parker Relieved fre Arrest.

NAVY DEPARTMENT, June 20, 1865.

General Order, No. 85.

At a Naval General Cont. Martial convened at the Navy Yard, New York, October 19, 1984, Lieuteians Commander George A. Steems, of the Navy, was tried on the following charge and

CHARGE -"Failing to do his utmost to over-

CRAKER.—"Failing to do his atmost to over-take and capture or destroy a vessel which it was his duty to encounter."

Specification—"in this; that between the 12th and 18th days of August, in the year 1844, the said Lieutenant Commander George A. Hierens, being then in command of the U. S. steamer Ponsank, at sea, nuder orders to cruise in search o the piratical steamer Tallahassee, did twice rethe piratical steamer Tallahassee, did twice re-turn from said cruise to ports in the United States unnecessarily, and reinsta In port without ne-cessity, first at Portland, on or about the 16th of August, and again at Eastport, on or about the 17th day of August, thus discontinuing and sus-pending his search for the said piratical vessel-and failing to do his utmost to overtake the said

Upon this charge and specification the finding of the Court was as follows:
"That the specification of the charge is proven,
with the exception of the word "unancessarily," as it occurs in the ninth line of the specification; that the accused, Lieutenant Commander George A. Stevens, of the U. S. Navy, is guilty of the And the Court do therefore sentence and adjudge the said Lientenant Commander Georg A. Stevens, of the U.S. Navy, to be surpended for one year, with the loss of six months' pay, from the date of this sentence. The offence committed by Lieutenant Commander Stevens was of the gravest character-ope of the capital offeness, on conviction of which a court-martial is authorized to pass the sentence of death. The Court do not find it proved that of death. The Court do not find it proved that he returned to part unnocessarily, but that he remained in port without nocessity, on two several occasions, at a time when duty called him most organity to be at sea. A formidable piratical vassel was known to be then within a short distance of our coast, pursuing a triamphant career of plunder and destruction, and the calls of public opinion, amounting to clamor, invoked the assistance of the Navy, and even directed the attention of the Department to this particular structure of the particular structure. attention of the Department to this particular officer, who was enjoying his ease in port while his orders and overy consideration of patricitem and of self-respect required him to be at sea. A and of self-respect required him to be at sea. A more flagrant case of delinquency, and one com-ing more completely within the purview of the law, could not well occur. Yet the public is to be informed that a ceur of officers of the Nay consider this capital offence, attended by no cir-cumstances of mitigation, sufficiently panished by suspension for six menths without pay, and with pay for the same period, the latter being with pay for the same period, the intervences equivalent to leave of absence for six months. The Department declines to entrage public opinion and its own sense of justice, or to mis-lead the younger officers of the Nay by approv-ing a sentence so glaringly inadequate. Lieutenant Commander Stevens is hereby re-liced from arrest.

Dard the United States steamer Baltimore, in James river, Va., March 18, 1865, Commander William 4. Parker, of the Raxy, was tried on the following charges and specifications:

Charge I.—" Yielation of the ninth section of specification lat—"In this; that ou or about the twenty-fourth day of January, eighteen hun-dred and sixty-five, the said Commander Wil-liam A. Parker, at that time commanding the n of James River and being on board the Division of James River and being on board the U. S. S. Onondagn, then lying below and near to certain obstructions which had been placed in James river to impede the progress of rebel ves-sels in coming down the river, reliable informa-tion having been given him that vessels belong-ing to the rebels were coming down the river and were engaged in removing said obstructions, did withdraw himself, and did order the U. did withdraw himself, and did order the L Cuondaga to move down the river ou of all exposure to danger from the vessels of of all exposure to danger from the vessels of the rebels, and from their butteries and guiss on shore, thereby allowing the said obstructions to be in part removed, the purpose and design of said obstructions to be defeated, and the vessels of the rebuis to pass and repass the point so ob-structed, to the great part of the property of the United States and of the safety of its military forces, therein withdrawing from and keeping out of danger to which he should have exposed himself."

Specification 2d-"In this; that on or above Specification 2d.—"In this; that on or about the senoud day of December, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, the said Commander Wittims A. Parker, then and from that day until the twenty-fourth day of January, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, being in command of a certain division of the North Atlantic Squadron, known as the Division of James Hiver, and having received from Rear Admiral David D. Porter, then commanding said squadron, orders in these words The picket boats must always be kept in read! at night, with their torpedues ready for instant service, and it an tron-clad should come down they must destroy her even if they are all sunk. For this purpose you must select men of nerve to command them, who will undertake anything, no matter how desperate; 'did not obey said specific orders or any one of them, thus failing properly to observe the orders of his commanding officer and use his utmost exertions to carry them into execution when ordered to prepare for battle, " CHARGE II. —" Falling to do his utmost to over-

Gramm II.—" Palling to do his atmost to over-take and capture or destroy a vossel which it was his duty to encounter." Specification—" In this: that en or about the twenty-foreth day of January, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, the said commander William A. Parker, then commanding the Navy Division of Januar Ilive, knowing that certain vessels of the James River, knowing that certain vessels of the enemy were coming down the James river and towards the point where he then was, did order the U. S. S. Oucadage, on board of which yessel he then was, to be moved down the river and away from the yessels of the enemy, for the discreditable purpose of avoiding an encounter with said vessels. "

In this case the Court found that so much of the second specification of the first charge as sets forth that the accused disobeyed orders in not entrusting the command to men of nerve, was not proved; and that so much of the specification of the second charge as sets forth that he moved of the second charge as sets forth that he moved down the river "for the discreditable purpose of avoiding an succuntor with the enemy," was not proved. With these exceptions the specifica-tions were found proved; the accused was found guilty of both charges, and sentenced "to be dis-missed from the Navy of the United States." Appended to the sentence is a recommendation to elemency, subscribed by the members compos-ing the Court, with one exception. This recon-mendation is given, they state, "in consideration mendation is given, they state, "in consideratio of the long service of Commander William A Parker throughout an official career of thirty three years,, and believing that he acted in this case from an error of judgment." The action of the Court in this case has some what embarrassed the Department. The ne what embarrassed the Department. The second of the charges preferred against Commander Parker is one of a most general and comprehendive character. The ways in which an officer might fall to do his simost to encounter and capture or destroy an enemy's yeased are incumerable; and as the right to a specification in all cases is secured to the accused by express enactment, it was deemed proper on the part of the prosecu-tion, particularly as the offence charged was capital, to specify the precise manner in which Com- | May 25, 1805.

mander Parker had falled to do his utmost or the occasion which led to his trial. It was ac-cordingly charged that he had given a certain order for the discreditable purpose of avoiding an encounter with the enemy. This was the specific allegation against which he was called upon to defend himself. The Court have found his allegation not proved, and have thus vis thally sequented the secused of the charge of avoiding an encounter with the enemy. The facts averred in the specification of the second charge, so far as they are found proved by the Court, are compatible with entire inno ence on the part of the accused of any crime cence on the part of the accused of any crime, whether moral or merely statutory. These facts are therefore insufficient in themselves to prove guilt. Yet the Court have found him guilty; and must have inferred the guilt from facts not set forth in the specification, but which ought, in conformity with law, to have been set forth, be-conformity with law, to have been set forth, be-lisg material facts necessary to constitute guilt. All the allegations in the specification, against which the accused was warned to defend him-self, are either disproved or are insufficient to prove guilt, and he is found guilty upon silega-tions of which he was not informed, and which are not even stated in the finding of the Court for the information of the revising power. The le-gality of such a finding is too questionable to be lightly admitted to establish a precedent.

It is to be inferred from the opinion of the in dividual members of the Court, as stated in their dividual members of the Court, as stated in their recommendation to elemency, that the sole of-fence of Commander Parker, at least under the second charge, was "error of Judgment." The Department is at a loss to understand whether the court considered "error of Judgment" a crime in their, or, under some circumstances, a valid defence against a proved crime. Notther position can be sanctioned by the Department. The fludings of the court under the second charge and its specifications are not approved; and as the sontence, resting on the findings under both charges, caunot now be modified, it is necessarily set acide, and Commander Parker is hereby re-
